BRUSSELS RESIDENTS SALT LAKE VISITORS

Came Over on Ship That Went to the Rescue of the Volturno.

Etienne de Sadeleer and his sister Marie Louise de Sadeleer, of Brussels, Belgium, son and daughter of Louis de Sadeleer, who is minister of state and a senator in Belgium and was formerly president of the chamber of representatives, are visitors in Salt Lake City. This is their first visit to America and

This is their first visit to America and both are enthusiastic regarding the United States, although they leament the fact that they have found but few here who can speak French.

The visitors came first to New York and then visited in most of the large cities of the eastern part of the United States and Canada before starting west. They came here from Colorado Springs and have much to say regarding the beautiful scenery of the Rocky mountains. On the way to this country Mr. and Miss de Sadeleer were on the Kroonland of the Hed Star line, which was one of the ships that went to the rescue of the burning Volturno. Discussing the trip and his visit to America, Mr. de Sadeleer said:

We received notice of the dan-

We received notice of the danger to the Voltumo at 8 o'clock in the morning and were near her at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The sea was high and it was difficult to launch lifeboats, but it was ordered done and two finally got clear of our vessel. It was too much to get near the burning ship. rough to get near the burning ship, but the boats picked up four men who had jumped overboard and got them back on the Kroonland.

At about midnight the sea quieted down and the passengers and members of the crew were rescued as rapidly as possible by our ship crew and that of the three other ships that were there. We had 110 of the rescued, including the captain of the Volturno, on our ship.

I am much pleased with America, and especially with the west. The only trouble is that we have far too short a time. We shall leave Sunday for San Francisco and then go down the coast to Los Angeles and back to New Orleans and then to Washington, where we will meet our father, who is now in Hayti on official business.

INFANT MORTALITY

Fourth Annual Convention of the American Association at National Capital.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14,-Teaching the "little mothers" of the slum babies infant hygiene was described as one of the greatest factors in preventing infant mortality by speakers at the opening session here today of the fourth an-C. Peikotto, a school teacher discharged | nual convention of the American Assoclation for the Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality.

"The little mother" problem was brought to the attention of the association in a discussion following the statement by Dr. J. A. M. Knox of Baltimore that girls in the elementary schools should be given lessons in inschools should be given lessons in in-fant hygiene. Several speakers pointed out that many girls of poor families were unable to attend school because of their baby sisters, and that for that reason the instruction should be ex-tended beyond the school room.

Miss Frances Etchberger of Balti-more, discussing "Nursing and Social Work" declared that the babies of the prince and the papure received the prince and the pauper received the greatest care; the former because of the ability to pay for the best medical attention, and the latter because of the great growth of public health nursing. An effort to reach the great public in between, she declared, should be made by the association.

The difficulties of reaching rural mothers and teaching them the care of their infants was described by Miss Fannic Clement of Washington.

A general session at the National Museum was addressed tenight by Dr. L. Emmett Holt of New York, president of the association. He declared that the infant mortality problem could be successfully solved by community interest and organization.

Railroad Case Argued.

The case of the United States against the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, which was argued before a jury in the federal court yesterday afternoon, was continued until Monday by Judge John A. Marshall. The road is charged in eleven counts of using defective equipment.

Having gathered much data relating to civil service, Commissioner W. H. Korns is contemplating the introduc-tion of a city ordinance under which all city employees will be placed under civil service. He has consulted with several attorneys and has obtained copies of similar ordinances in other cities where the commission form of government is in vogue.

Other members of the commission, however, are of the opinion that such an ordinance cannot be passed by the commission and that a legislative enactment would be necessary to give the city such power. Mr. Korns holds that this contention is open to question.

When the bill creating the commission form of government was first before the Utah legislature it contained a civil service clause but this was rea civil service clause but this was re-moved after the governor had threat-ened to kill the bill if the civil service clause was not eliminated.

The water commissioner believes that the city has some latitude in the mat-ter and that civil service requirements could be injected into the municipal government to great advantago.
